Caverion provides building solutions worth over EUR 14 million to Deutsche Telekom office complex in Hamburg, Germany

Caverion has signed a contract worth approximately EUR 14.3 million with property management company TAS Kommanditgesellschaft (TAS KG) on delivering building solutions to a new Deutsche Telekom office complex in Hamburg, Germany. The contract covers the technical disciplines of heating and sanitation, cooling and electricity. Caverion is responsible for project execution.

The new office complex will have nine floors with a total surface area of 34,000 m² and house 1,500 Deutsche Telekom employees. The installation work of the building solutions will start in July 2015 and is expected to take one year.

"We are delighted that TAS KG has chosen Caverion as a building solutions provider in this major project, as we have had successful partnership in other projects over the years", says Werner Kühn, Executive Vice President & CEO at Caverion Germany.

TAS KG belongs to Caverion's Real Estate Owners and Developers client segment.
